Opt-In ICP

Having every prospect in your Ideal Customer Profile engaged with at least one of your content is the first step.

Find a partner who can consistently update your CRM with new (opt-in) contacts that fit your (ICP- Ideal Customer Profile) at the right price.

Why use a partner?

Cold outreach is usually diminishes domain reputation and derivability

Nurture your Leads

Once the prospect has downloaded a piece of content, they start recognizing the brand.

Whether they're a new visitor, an opt in, a long-time lead, or a loyal customer, each interaction through new valuable content presents an opportunity to strengthen the relationship. You're not just selling; you're educating, entertaining, and enhancing their lives.

Nurture your Leads

Each outreach sent serves as a touchpoint that further familiarizes the lead with your brand. A consistent flow of useful content can gradually shift their perception of your brand from an impersonal entity to a trusted ally.

However, it's essential to remember that nurturing leads and building relationships isn't about inundating your audience. It is about providing value with each additional touch point.

Scalable Outreach on a Budget

Content syndication is a cost-effective solution. Once you've developed captivating content, distributing it costs remarkably little.

New opt in contacts cost an average of $35 with Beeleads and sending nurturing emails (from a reputed marketing automation platform) costs no more than $5/ 1000 emails. It's akin to having an unlimited supply of fishing bait with only one hook needed. This 'hook'—your email, can reach an audience of hundreds, thousands, or even millions.

Scalable Outreach on a Budget

Content syndication is also scalable. Whether you're contacting a hundred or a thousand leads, the costs don't skyrocket.

As your audience grows, so does your outreach, without the need to increase your marketing budget. If your opt-in list doubles, the same email can reach twice as many inboxes without enormous added costs. This scalability is a significant advantage for businesses.
